PLAY WITH YOUR FOOD

This clever idea may be "The Answer" to the "picky eater" problem. Colorful, divided melamine plate has a different animal graphic in each of the 4 food wells. The spinner will point to a picture of one or more animals and give an instruction such as "take one bite" or "one bite each". The child becomes engaged in the game process rather than in a battle of wills with their caregiver. When starting, try putting favorite items in biggest sections and least liked in smallest. Comes with one plate, matching mug and spinner. Dishwasher safe, not for microwaves.

PUFF PASTRIES

A deliciously breathtaking game where players have to "puff" the ball into the designated hole to earn points. The game board is engineered at a slant within the box so gravity is working against you. Two weights of ball give all players a chance. Some players may do better using a straw to help direct air flow. Fun way to work on breath control, lip closure, and respiratory endurance, all contributing to improved speech and oral motor skills.
